Indian Matters

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The mission sent to Little Mound in behalf of the Four Indians has been generally successful. About sixty lodges of Spotted Tail's people crossed North Platte going south. Nearly all the lodges attempted to leave the Red Cloud agency but were turned back by the chiefs and soldiers. Red Cloud sent a letter to the Northern Sioux saying that he will not go to war any more with the whites. The Sioux must listen and no go to war with the whites. The heart of the Great Father is good. He friends to him, old people, and your children will not starve.

HELENA, Montana, July 15.—Felix R. Brunot and T. K. Cree arrived yesterday, intending to visit the Blackfeet and Crows.

Cowan, Assistant Secretary of the Interior and Commander N. J. Denny left for Fort Benton accompanied by Red Cloud and Red Dog.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

The Geneva Conference

GENEVA, July 15.—This afternoon the Board of Arbitration convened at 2 o'clock and continued its session until evening. Members again agreed that absolute secrecy should be maintained as to their proceedings. Daily sittings will probably be determined on for the present. The first subject of discussion will be principles enunciated by the Treaty of Washington.

LONDON, July 15.—A Geneva special states that all members of the Board of Arbitration were present at the meeting to-day, also agents and counsel on either side with the exception of Evarts, one of the counsel of the United States. Although the court sat with closed doors there is reason to know that the session was occupied from the beginning with the consideration of the basis on which the deliberation of the Board are to be conducted. At the sitting to-morrow a special plan for the future course of proceedings will be discussed.

Catacazy Again

LONDON, July 15.—The [illegible] this evening devotes a leading article to Catacazy's statements. It says that Catacazy's pamphlet which was offered to the United States for two hundred pounds has been published. It fully justifies our opinion that it was not worth the money. Indeed it is hardly worth noticing. The ex-Minister is simply trying to justify himself. The [illegible] thinks [illegible] did well to bow Catacazy out of Washington. The pamphlet [illegible] is addressed to him by Gortschakoff, in which the latter says he does not lose sight of the fact that we are not sowers of discord and that we carefully abstain from encouraging misunderstanding between England and America. The Emperor wants peace.

French Affairs

PARIS, July 15.—Gambetta, in his speech at Lafertsous Jouarre yesterday, praised the Republic as the embodiment of the principles of self government, order and property. He denounced the conservative party and complimented Thiers in high terms, declaring that his administration had been a great success.

An Iowa paper says the grasshoppers and potato bugs met in joint Convention at Council Bluffs the other day. They decided to reject the one-term principle.

The fears entertained six weeks ago in California that the crops were likely to fail, have happily turned into general rejoicing over the certainty of a comparatively abundant harvest.

Tom Scott had invested $150,000 in saw mills at Apalachicola, Florida, to get out cross ties from cypress and juniper which will be chemicalized in some way to be rendered fire proof and used on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

It is said that by the expenditure of $36,000,000 for levees on the Mississippi river, [illegible] 000 acres of cotton land and 2,500,000 acres of sugar land would be reclaimed, the annual product of which it is estimated would amount to $150,000,000 gold.

Some time ago a small parcel of oats, known as the White Shonan, was received from the Patent Office at Washington and John G. Mackey of Campo Seco, California, sowed a small patch. The stalks are six feet high and the heads 18 inches long. Some of the heads contain 540 grains.

The Mad Stone

ITS APPLICATION IN THE CASE OF A YOUNG KENTUCKY GIRL—HOW IT WORKED.

From the Louisville Courier Journal.

There is a mad stone owned in Elizabethtown. It is in the possession of Mrs. Eliza Hewitt and is said to have been tried and found efficient in several cases. Another is owned by Mrs. Chastain, about three miles from Hodgenville, Kentucky. It is called a Chinese stone said to be a composition, the peculiar quality of which is a strong affinity for poison. The following is a description of the stone and its operation.

When applied to the bite of a mad dog or poisonous snake it adheres so firmly to the wound that it cannot be drawn off without a considerable effort until it becomes fully impregnated with poison. It is then purified by being placed first into warm water and then into the fire. When put into a tumbler of warm or hot water the green poison can be seen rising to the surface. This stone has been applied frequently for many years past with universal success but never till lately were its virtues completely developed. Miss Prater, of Larue county, while lying in her bed at night was bitten by a cat. In the morning the cat was found dead—and the wound being but slight, the circumstance was forgotten. In a few days after this Miss Prater complained to her mother of dizziness in her head and dimness in her eyes. Her mother requested her to sit down, she did so and was soon better. Not long afterward she again went to her exclaiming: "Oh mother, mother, my head will burst. I shall shortly die." Her eyes at this time were of a dark green and of that peculiar expression which is peculiar to animals in a state of hydrophobia.

Her mother then recollected the bite of the cat and found that it had just been nine days since that unfortunate accident. Her fears for the safety of her lovely daughter for a while deprived her of thought and action. The daughter in the meantime had left the house occasionally biting herself and crying "I must go—I must go"—evidently laboring under a severe fit of hydrophobia. Assistance was soon obtained from the neighbors to confine her to the house and news arrived of there being mad dogs in the neighborhood. She was bled and a person started for the madstone, as it is commonly called. Mrs. Chastain sent her son with it, before his arrival Miss Prater had suffered under four paroxysms or fits. The stone was applied and immediately stuck—an infallible evidence that poison was in the system.

In common cases when applied within a few days after the bite it adheres from four to six hours, but in this advanced and aggravated case it adhered until the fourth day before it became sufficiently saturated with poison to be drawn away. When it was first applied the girl was frantic with rage, but as it gradually absorbed the virus [illegible] she became more composed.

In the morning of the second day she complained of shooting pains in her head and throat. Some water was offered her. She took the tumbler in her hand, looked at the water, then cast a vacant stare upon the company and handed it back, remarking that the same hateful fox had lapped in it which had tormented her so long. When told that it was just brought from the spring she again took it, looked at it for a moment, her bosom began to heave, her eyes to assume their green cast and her whole system to be convulsed with horror. It was taken from her. In a short time her eyes resumed their natural color and she became composed [illegible]

On the morning of the third day [illegible] [illegible] she drank a little water [illegible] for a few moments [illegible] her face and her eyes [illegible] return of the desperate malady [illegible] to be a strife between the virtues of the stone and the poison [illegible] the former. After she had drank the water [illegible] and kissed the stone [illegible] her deliverer. The whole company [illegible] at the [illegible] appear [illegible] in the opinion of [illegible] for the most [illegible] the life of man. On the morning of the fourth day the stone fell from the sore. She felt no ill effects from her complaint except weakness, in a few days was entirely well and never [illegible] had the least symptom of its return.

Recording Musical Notes

Each of the many vibrations that have concurred in the production of a musical note can be recorded so as to be visible to a moderately large audience by the use of no other apparatus than a piece of chalk and an ordinary blackboard.

The peculiarly shrill disagreeable sound often heard when a slate pencil or piece of chalk is drawn rapidly over a slate is well known. It occurs when the contact between the pencil and the slate is not continuous. Each time the pencil touches the slate a slight tap is produced and these taps, following each other rapidly, link themselves into a sound more or less musical. They may be legibly recorded as follows.

An ordinary chalk crayon is held loosely in the hand near one end and inclined so that the acute angle made by the other end with the surface of a blackboard is about 30 degs. It now the crayon is pushed in the direction of the obtuse angle, it will be set into rapid vibrations and striking against the board at nearly equal intervals, will produce a musical note. At each contact a legible mark is made on the board. By giving the chalk a uniform velocity the pitch of the sound is kept quite constant, and the exact number of vibrations corresponding to any particular note, can be rapidly ascertained by counting the marks impressed on the board in a given time.

A very little practice will enable one to produce these effects quite readily. By altering the inclination and pressure, the pitch of the note can be varied at will, and the class or audience enabled to see the cause of the variations in notes of different pitch. In many cases by a close inspection of the marks it will be seen that each of them has been formed by two or more separate marks, one of which is generally more prominent than the others. This corresponds to the fundamental tone of the sound, the others to the over tones, and thus we have a visible proof of the cause of the difference in quality observable in certain notes of the same pitch. By considerable practice, the variations in the pitch of the notes can be obtained so readily that a tune may even be evoked from the board, which after the performance will contain a physical analysis of the individual notes.

Sharks

In every geological epoch in mundane history, this ferocious fish appears to have existed.

Although the bones are soft and cartilaginous the teeth are almost indestructible. Some of the fossil specimens, nearly a pound in weight, found at Gayhead in Massachusetts and in the marl pits of New Jersey, besides hundreds of other places on all the continents, prove their wide distribution at the earliest geological periods and their importance in the limitation of aquatic races.

Those marl beds as well as the high land at Cape Cod were once the bottom of the ocean. Vast multitudes of ancient sharks lived and died undefined ages before the advent of men on the earth, whose carcases were carried by currents here and there, till, entangled in vegetable growths or mud, they were soon returned to the elements, save their teeth, which are solid leaves of a great volume which is studied by those laborious scientists who explain to us the origin and development of this beautiful earth.

Their cartilaginous skeletons were soon decomposed and lost, but their teeth, with a thick crust of enamel that defies the tooth of time, has safely protected them through momentous physical revolutions which changed the localities of former times.

These fossil teeth tell the whole story of mighty changes in the condition of this outer shell on which so much life now abounds.

Modern sharks appear to fall far short of the gigantic proportions of their antediluvian ancestors. If the fossil teeth of museums bear a definite relation to other parts of the body to which they belonged, as they now do in the living representatives of different species, some old world sharks must have been full one hundred feet long.

With jaws thickly studded with cutting instruments, it was mere sport for them to cut ichthyosaurus into inch pieces, and they had jaws from three to six feet in length, terrible enough to grapple with the marine snake then roving through disturbed waters in quest of prey.

So necessary are sharks in the economy of nature they still inhabit every zone. Solitary and alone they range from pole to pole, sanguinary bandits of the element in which they fearlessly swim, slaughtering and devouring every creature they can master. They seize with equal avidity putrescent garbage and swallow a fetid carcase with a gusto.

Their function is recognized by naturalists in their proclivities and characteristic acts. They prevent the too rapid increase or multiplication of other aquatic beings. To that end their digestion is rapid, the solvent properties of fluids secreted in their stomach are restless, and consequently, being always hungry, they are perpetually slaying and eating. Dreaded as they are by man if they were suddenly annihilated melancholy consequences would ensue that might peril all life in sea and on shore. Races now kept down would increase to the danger of each other.

Their decaying bodies would poison the waters of the globe. [illegible] exhalations would taint the atmosphere of the whole world. Sharks therefore are necessary in the economy of organized life, since its perpetuity essentially on duty as universal marine scavengers holding the balance of power between life and death.

It is the province of science to study losses that are permanent in nature. No one of them is more firmly established or better understood than this. [illegible]

[illegible] ADVANTAGE OF LABOR-SAVING MACHINERY.—In no way has the beneficial effect of labor-saving machines in improving the condition of workmen been better exemplified than by the application of the sewing machine to the manufacture of shoes. The workmen of Lynn, Massachusetts, who in 1862 were earning 10 dollars a week without the assistance of the leather sewing machine are now it is reported earning 30 dollars a week with the aid of this useful apparatus. The inventor, who in 186[illegible] was threatened with mob violence, is now considered by the workmen as their greatest benefactor. Within the last ten years the town of Lynn has doubled in population and taxable property, and it is estimated that 44,000,000 dollars have been saved [illegible] the whole country by the invention of the sewing machine apparatus as applied to the manufacture of articles of leather.

A great many people who have been reading the gloomy vaticinations of Schurz, Trumbull, Sumner & Co. would be glad to know how it happens that such responsible [illegible] men as Judge Hoar and President Woolsey strongly recommend the support of Grant and the Republican party. If there was danger threatening these men would avert it [illegible] the people say, and then giving the argument back to [illegible] the people [illegible] that because they [illegible] Greeley [illegible] danger in that quarter.

Little George, showing his Aunt Mary a sketch of a horse with a jockey astride: "There, Aunt Mary, what do you think of that? I drew the horse and Ethel the jockey." Aunt Mary: "Hm. But what will mamma say to your drawing a horse and jockey on Sunday?" Ethel: "Oh, [illegible] but we've drawn [illegible] going to church, you know."

[illegible] PETER CARTWRIGHT, D. D.—A correspondent writing from Pleasant Plains, Sangamon county, under date of the 5th instant, says: This place is intimately connected with the name of the Rev. Peter Cartwright, whose residence is only about three fourths of a mile from the pleasant village. The venerable man is still living but in a very feeble condition and his death at any time would not surprise his friends. The family of this aged pioneer of the Methodist church are in receipt of letters almost every day from various portions of the country, the writers of which are anxious to learn of the state of the health of this good old man who now only recognizes his friends at intervals. No hope is entertained of his recovery. He was born September 1st, 1785, in Amherst county, Virginia.

The Liberals and Democrats in Illinois are thoroughly disgusted with the ticket nominated by the double convention. A Springfield man writes to the Inter Ocean: "I have not found a leading man who indorses the ticket, or promises to support it. Among the prominent Liberals who openly express their opposition to the State ticket, are Hon. Jesse D. DuBois, O. M. Hatch, Hon. Wm. Butler, Hon. Newton Bateman and Dr. Wm. Jayne. Many others who have taken an active part in the Liberal movement have openly renounced their adhesion to the coalition."

A few Sundays since a teacher in the Sunday school of an Episcopal church in Chicago said to one of her pupils, "James, what good thing—what great pleasure are you willing to give up as a sacrifice during Lenten season?" Jimmy meditated about ten seconds, and responded, "I think I'll give up going to Sunday school."

DR. ABORN,

HAS RETURNED TO PORTLAND

Evidences of His Success while on Puget Sound

[From the Morning Herald.]

We notice the return of Dr. Aborn who has been paying a professional visit to the Sound country, where he has performed a great number of miraculous cures and operations. The Olympia Transcript speaks of him in the following terms. "We call attention to the cards in to-day's paper, in reference to the treatment and skill of Dr. Aborn. He has been on the Sound but a few weeks, but in that time he has given such great benefit to many of our citizens that it is particularly worthy of note."

MIRACULOUS CURE

John L. Clark, of Olympia, who has been so severely afflicted for years and considered hopeless, is now fast regaining his health under the treatment of Dr. Aborn. The following is Mr. Clark's statement concerning himself.

TO THE PUBLIC.

For two years I have been severely afflicted with Catarrh, Throat, Bronchial and Lung D[illegible], and [illegible] tion of the Stomach. Have been [illegible] by sixty different physicians without any benefit; [illegible] over $5,000; had been given up to die. Two [illegible] ago I [illegible] myself under the care of Dr. Aborn, and to my great joy and surprise I have [illegible] wonderfully, which all my friends can readily see. I can now eat and [illegible] my food and my stomach is healed. Have gained [illegible] fully in strength and flesh, and I now confidently entertain hope that, under Dr. Aborn's skillful treatment, I shall be entirely cured.

ANOTHER REMARKABLE CURE.

[From the Olympia [illegible]]

Elsewhere in our local columns will be found a letter from Mr. John L. Clark, testifying to the [illegible] skill of Dr. Aborn. Read it. Mr. Clark is among the best known of our citizens, and the fact of his having been in poor health for some years is equally well known to many of his acquaintances. The testimony he bears to the success of the Doctor's treatment in his case is of no doubtful character, and should add largely to the reputation of the latter as a physician.

EYES TREATED

[From the Olympia Tribune.]

This morning Dr. Aborn performed a neat surgical operation upon the eyes of a lady from Seattle—Mrs. Shoudy—who we are informed has been nearly blind for ten years. By this operation and the Doctor's skillful treatment she will have her eyesight perfectly and permanently restored. He also performed a similar operation upon Mr. Barnes, a resident of Tumwater, with a like happy result.

ANOTHER EDITORIAL FROM THE OLYMPIA DAILY TRIBUNE, JULY 5.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.—The visit of Dr. Aborn. To-morrow will be his last day in Olympia. During his brief sojourn in our midst he has effected some miraculous cures and performed several surgical operations, the success of which have materially augmented his reputation for skill. The persons who have been relieved by Dr. Aborn will gratefully remember his visit to the Sound, which it is hoped he will soon repeat.

[From the Seattle Dispatch.]

Dr. Aborn has spent a week in this city, during which time he has treated many cases of chronic diseases of the eye, ear and throat, with almost miraculous success, restoring sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf and speech to the almost dumb, causing the hope to the afflicted that he will soon favor them with another visit.

RELIABLE HOME EVIDENCE OF DR. ABORN'S SKILL.—John Webster, blacksmith and ex-member of our Legislature, now a resident of Seattle and a candidate for Probate Judge, publishes a testimonial in this issue of our paper testifying that after having been deaf for over 20 years he has been restored to hearing.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DEAFNESS

SEATTLE, June 26, 1872.

To [illegible] May [illegible]

I hereby certify that I have been under the treatment of Dr. Aborn for deafness and that he has almost entirely restored my hearing. I had been quite deaf for [illegible] twenty years, and in one ear had not heard the tick of a watch for the above time, and the second day after he commenced treatment I could hear very plain and I feel like a new man. The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, [illegible] 1872

The "Bulletin" Again.

Two [illegible] of daily [illegible] are [illegible] by the [illegible] Greeley at the Oregonian, [illegible] hardly to [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] achievements of the Bulletin [illegible]. That paper takes credit to itself for [illegible] leadership [illegible] and asserts its superiority [illegible].

Everybody [illegible] that the Bulletin shall [illegible] its own [illegible] blowing [illegible] its existence. But it is the opinion of many that there are subjects on which its utterances are not infallible nor final. "Our neighbor," it says, "causelessly, wantonly and very uncharitably asserted that an honorable gentleman whom we highly esteem was a defaulter to the Government. He did so without any other authority than hearsay or report. We knew the accusation was unfounded." What swelling importance is here! The OREGONIAN made a statement about "an honorable gentleman whom we highly esteem." What presumption! "We knew it was unfounded." Therefore the OREGONIAN must be reminded that it couldn't be permitted to use the name of "a gentleman whom we highly esteem." It must be reproved and censured, and its veracity must be assailed.

In regard to this special matter we have but a word or two more to say. Our statement was that Mr. Adair was delinquent on an old account with the Government, in the sum of $1,373 13. We have other authority than hearsay for the statement. We have it direct from the Treasury Department of the United States. The Bulletin does not know that the statement is "unfounded." It asserts a thing of which it has no accurate knowledge whatever. It admits, however, at last that the balance stands against Adair, but says it is merely a "disallowed account." Of course it is necessary to find some starting-hole for an escape. The fiction of a "disallowed account" is not new. It is the resource of nearly every official who comes out short in his settlement.

Here we drop this matter. Having forced the Bulletin to this point there needs nothing more.

But on another matter there is something to add. In a former article we referred to the Bulletin's violent attacks on Republicans in this county, only for presuming to have opinions of their own as to candidates, in the primary meetings of their party. That paper replies that the result was all right, that our majority in the county was increased, and that we carried the State. This is no vindication whatever of the Bulletin's wanton course. We succeeded in the election simply because the men it assailed and their friends could not be driven out of the party by its abusive attacks. For ourselves, we did not act with them in the primaries, but we never thought of the folly of questioning their right to act as they thought fit. For the same reason that the Bulletin did not want them to have any opinions, it attacked us for our statement about Adair. It recognizes the right of nobody to do anything which clashes with its interest or views. Hence also its assault on us a year ago for our remarks approving the enforcement of the right of the Orangemen of New York to parade on their anniversary. The Bulletin disliked the Orangemen; and it couldn't for a moment tolerate the idea of their having the same rights that all other people have in a free country.

It is this course of insolent intermeddling and offensive dictation, which is habitual with the Bulletin, that we mean to reprove, especially when it is leveled at us. It is contrary to the very first idea of Republicanism, as taught by the Republican party. That paper has yet these principles to learn. It is not a Republican journal, though to be just to it we must say that it does not profess to be. But at present it goes with the Republican party, and we give it credit for its efforts. It says it will help all it can to re-elect Grant, which Republicans are glad to hear. We need not here define in detail the peculiar relations it bears to the Republican party, they are well understood throughout the State. When it shall have learned the first principles of toleration, and become less dogmatic, opinionated and narrow, it will be prepared to enter into close and unselfish sympathy with the great Republican party.

Employment of Seamen.

A few days ago we gave a partial synopsis of an act recently passed by Congress to authorize the appointment of Shipping Commissioners by the Circuit Courts of the United States, to superintend the shipping and discharge of seamen engaged in merchant ships of the United States, and for the protection of seamen in other ways.

In the synopsis we gave, some very material provisions were omitted. As the subject is one of interest, and as cases frequently arise here wherein the claims and rights of seamen are involved, we add here the chief parts of what was omitted on that occasion.

It is enacted that the master of every ship bound from a port in the United States to any foreign port, or of any ship bound from a port on the Atlantic to a port on the Pacific, or vice versa, shall, before he proceeds on such voyage, make an agreement with every seaman in writing or print as to particulars of voyage, including destination, time of service, pay, provisions, duty to be performed, etc.; including regulations as to conduct on board, fines, short allowance of provisions or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which the parties may agree to adopt. In case no Shipping Commissioner is appointed at any port the duty thereof devolves on the Collector of Customs. In cases where seamen are to participate in the profits or results of a voyage this agreement in writing is not necessary. Each seaman is to sign in the presence of the Shipping Commissioner, and the contract is to be executed in duplicate. Penalties are prescribed for taking persons to sea without first entering into this agreement in the manner provided by law.

A recent act of Congress regulates the mode of making private contracts with Indians. It provides that certain classes of contracts made by any person with an Indian, for a valuable consideration, must be in writing and executed before a judge of a court of record. A copy of the agreement is to be retained by each party. The act is intended to regulate especially contracts with Indians relative to claims growing out of annuities or demands under laws or treaties of the United States.

Let us alone.—Bulletin.

Couldn't our neighbor have thought of this precept before it began to pitch into the OREGONIAN?

Newspapers and Circulation.

For a considerable time the Bulletin has kept the following statement standing at the head of its columns:

The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any daily paper published in Oregon.

We have paid no attention to this low comedy heretofore, since it is a sort of boasting which newspapers of the sensational kind habitually indulge in. But the Bulletin, in the course of its tirade against the OREGONIAN, asserts the same thing in a form which calls for notice.

The statement or claim that the Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper in Oregon is simply not true, and is without foundation in fact. Its advertisement to that effect is simply to be classed with the showman's bill, which announces that the enterprising proprietor has on exhibition the longest snake, or the most wonderfully trained monkey or pig in the world.

The circulation of the Daily Bulletin has never equaled the circulation of the DAILY OREGONIAN. Nor is the Weekly Bulletin's list more than half as large as that of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN. It is well known that the Bulletin has always been a losing enterprise. It could not to-day live upon its legitimate resources as a journal. The OREGONIAN does not boast of its wealth or ability, but it does not sink money, and it has to-day a larger circulation than it ever enjoyed before.

We do not say these things to injure the Bulletin. Its circulation no doubt is very respectable, but as it is a paper devoted to special interests its circulation and influence must always be confined within certain limits. We have spoken only because we felt it to be unjust both to the public and to ourselves to permit its statement to go uncontradicted.

A Statement Examined.

Men wonder why the great Democratic party nominated Horace Greeley. We tell them that the Democratic people, who will be obeyed by their own servants, bade the party representatives do that very thing.—Herald.

What absurd nonsense this is! Take for instance the "Democratic people" of Oregon. Not one in ten of them wanted Greeley nominated. So far from commanding their representatives to do this thing, they would have hissed with scorn and indignation, had it been proposed to them at the Dalles Convention, where the "party representatives" were selected. But Democratic politicians and leaders are not "servants" of their party, they are masters of it. They have "put up" this thing for Greeley, and propose to make the "Democratic people" swallow it, because it is the "reg'lar ticket." If a man like Voorhees, with a straight Democratic record, could now be nominated and submitted with Greeley to the deliberate choice of the Democrats of Oregon, Greeley would not get two hundred and fifty votes in the State. No Democrat supports Greeley except on compulsion, and even the Herald has confessed that it "regrets" the necessity which forces it to support him.

The National Republican Committee is going through the files of the New York Tribune for the purpose of collating Greeley's utterances to be used as campaign matter. They will be printed in broadsides, and circulated all over the country. Alarm and indignation are expressed by the Tribune on learning of this intention. It declares that it is part of the policy to perpetuate "hates," and that it is "in harmony with the spirit in which the Grant people intend to carry on this campaign." This is sad. But what is the Greeley campaign but a campaign of hate? Hatred of Grant because he was not flexible enough to please certain would-be leaders, is at the bottom of the whole movement. Had Grant been politician enough to handle Greeley as Lincoln did; had he flattered his vanity and attached him to his administration by intrusting to him some "mission" that would have magnified his importance (as Lincoln did when he sent him to meet the rebel ambassadors at Niagara), Greeley would now be for Grant and the Democrats would have some other candidate for President.

In some comments on the May case the Bulletin enunciates a doctrine of morals which differs very much from received opinions. It finds fault with us for having said that May was morally guilty, and points to his acquittal for his vindication. And then it adds:

> It is plain to anybody that such a course on the part of one who boasts his entire competency to conduct a Republican journal is cause sufficient to excite a doubt whether he correctly estimates his own capability, for, as everybody will agree, by such a course he casts discredit upon his own party.

Will the Bulletin venture to say that May did not use money not belonging to him? Every person in Oregon knows that he did. We should "cast discredit on the Republican party" were we to deny so notorious a fact. "It is plain to anybody" that according to our neighbor's notions old-fashioned principles of honesty are much out of date.

And now the New York Tribune is mourning because Oregon did not go Democratic in the recent election, and repeating all the petty stories told by local Democratic organs here about "frauds." It says besides that Ben Holladay imported from California fifteen hundred to two thousand railroad laborers, and they helped do the job. This is a variation of the story not given by the Oregon Herald. The big Democratic organ, the Tribune, is ahead of our slow neighbor.

The Herald tells about something which it alleges has "made the South bristle with bayonets in time of peace." It finds it convenient to forget that all the acts of this description of which it complains, were suggested, urged and approved by its candidate for the Presidency.

Improved Iron Processes.

Scarcely a month passes without the announcement of some alleged or real improvement in the methods of smelting iron, converting iron into steel, or working up iron into the various forms called for in the consumption of that important article.

A new and cheap alloy or iron, called Sterling Metal, lately produced, is reported to be harder than cast steel, and, if so, will come into use for edge tools. The process of converting pig iron into wrought iron, in a puddling furnace worked by machinery, is coming into favor, saving much hand labor. The conversion of cast iron into steel by puddling, at one operation, is also becoming important. The slag of iron foundries, heretofore valueless, is now pulverized and mixed with lime, to make bricks, artificial stone, and ornamental articles of many kinds. In an iron smelting furnace lately tried at Hudson, New York, the smoke passes out not at the top, as in the ordinary furnaces, but through flues nine feet below the top, and it is said that there is a saving of twenty-five per cent. in the quantity of coal required to make a ton of pig iron. Nearly every periodical devoted to the industrial arts tells of late progress of inventions in the working of iron.

OREGON.

The delinquent tax list in Polk county foots up $1,665 52.

Lane county has $2,500 in the Treasury over and above her indebtedness.

The State Printer has set up his "traps" in Salem and is about to begin work.

Lane county received $500 for licenses last year. Linn received $660 from a similar source.

A lawsuit is pending in Clackamas county about a [illegible], which promises to be a telling affair to all concerned, financially.

The Register and Receiver at Roseburg are doing a land office business to an extensive scale. A large number of applications for land have been filed lately.

The Courier, of Lafayette, says "J. T. Hembree, of Yamhill, wants to bet that Greeley will be elected." If Mr. H. should happen to come this way, he can be accommodated.

Archibald Fairclough was knocked down and robbed of a purse of money, on the road near Lafayette, last Saturday. The villains who committed the deed were not caught at last accounts, though officers were in hot pursuit.

A son of William Hall, of Yamhill county, was struck on the back of the head with a piece of bone several days ago, from which he at first seemed to suffer but little, but finally the pain became so intense that lockjaw ensued, and on Sunday the 7th inst. the lad died. He was about 11 years of age.

A country merchant of Clackamas county, himself a Greeley Democrat, informs us that on last Saturday, of eleven Democrats at his store at one time, five said they would not vote at all, three declared their purpose to vote for Grant and three said they "supposed they would have to vote for Greeley." The same man tells us that that is about the state of affairs all over Clackamas county.

At Soda Springs, Clackamas county, on the night of July 4th, some one cut the guys or braces supporting the beams of a large circular swing, severing some of them entirely and the others nearly so. A man named Andrew Wayland was arrested as the guilty party, and held to answer the charge before the Grand Jury, by the Justice before whom the examination was had. Bail was given in the sum of $1,000.

From the Statesman we collate the following Salem items: A young man desiring to accommodate a lady friend by milking a cow for her, and getting hold of the wrong cow came near being arrested for larceny of milk. Some amorous swains were drenched with swill when they attempted to serenade a fair damsel last Saturday. Hon. A. B. Meacham contemplates settling permanently in Salem.

THE TERRITORIES.

E. B. Whitman was elected Mayor of Walla Walla on the 8th inst.

There is less crime in Alaska, to its population, than any other portion of the globe.

The thermometer stood at 107 degrees on the shady side of the street in Walla Walla last Thursday.

The Port Townsend Argus advises "ye clipper of the Portland Bulletin to burnish up his geography bump."

Fare from Olympia to Seattle, by water, is very low, being only twenty five cents for a ride of about 80 miles.

The banking house of Moore & Co., at Idaho City, shipped $130,740 in gold bars to New York during the month of June last.

The Tribune says "the oldest inhabitant," Indian or white man, never knew a case of fever and ague to originate on Puget Sound.

The mill men on the Sound complain of the difficulty in chartering vessels to carry lumber this season. Freights and the price of lumber have both advanced.

Gangs of laborers are at work on the line the of Walla Walla Railroad, and it is expected that the road as far as Dry Creek will be completed in time to move this season's crop.

The grasshoppers in Big Hole and Jefferson Valleys, Montana, are eating everything green that comes in their way, and crops are suffering greatly from their depredations.

Another addition to Olympia has been made and a plat of the survey filed, making the town about nine miles across. It is now perhaps the "longest" town on the Pacific coast.

The postponement of the elections in Washington and Idaho until November, has put the matter so far in the future that all the faults in all the candidates will be fully ventilated by their opponents.

The people of Mill Plain, Clarke county, W. T., want to ascertain the whereabouts of one McTavish. The Register advises them to inquire at Kalama and says all the scalawags go there when they leave Vancouver.

Boise City seems to be in a bad way, financially. There seems to be a flaw in the city charter which renders all levies for taxes by the corporation illegal, and if no taxes how are the officers to live? that's the question.

Walla Walla county levies a tax, this year, of twelve and a half mills on the dollar, amounting to the sum of $15,350 35. There was $1,750 in the county treasury on July 1st, and outstanding county warrants to the sum of $4,100.

Wm. H. Shaffer and John Snelling scaled the walls of the jail at Walla Walla on the evening of the 9th inst. and hied away to the Blue Mountains. The Statesman says that Shaffer was in for eighteen months, and Snelling was in for burglary.

The following new post roads have been established in Washington Territory: From Seattle to Bensonville, from Montezano to Liberty, from Whatcom to Semiahmoo; from Snohomish to Snoqualmie via mouth of Snoqualmie river, from the Dalles to Golden Dale via Columbus, and from Delta to Spokane bridge via Pinawawa and Colfax.

Mr. J. W. Sweeney, of Seattle, proposes to incorporate a company to build a telegraph line from Port Townsend to Port Ludlow, thence to Port Gamble, thence to Port Madison, Port Blakeley and across the Sound to Seattle. Two cables will be required—one to cross the Sound, and the other to reach across the mouth of Hood's canal.

The Boise Statesman says that on the morning of the 9th inst. news came to Horse Shoe Bend of the killing of George Wells and another young man by the name of Goodwin on the Malheur, by the Indians, and their stock had been driven off, amounting to about 50 head. Wells and Goodwin had been down to Walla Walla and bought this stock and just returned to the Malheur, and were expected up to the Bend on the Fourth. Instead of which, the sad news of the killing of these two young men and the driving off of their stock had been sent to their friends and relations. They think the news is reliable and that Eagle of the Light and his little band have done the mischief, as they are known to be prowling round in that vicinity.

The Idaho Statesman has the following: "Washington Pearce, formerly of Miller's Camp, Warren's Diggings, but lately of Eastern Oregon, who has been vagabondizing around on the Pacific coast for twenty two years as an honest miner, without any very good luck, has recently received letters from his relatives in the East informing him that he will soon fall heir to a large estate, which has been in litigation for a long time and is now about to be closed up. One portion of the estate consists of $60,000,000 deposited in the Bank of Holland 200 years ago, and interest on the same for that time, the other is known as the Anneke Jans estate or Trinity church property in New York city, and supposed to be worth three or four hundred millions of dollars. Wash was in this city several days, and then went East, with the full expectation of obtaining about one hundred millions as his share of the great estate. When Pearce gets his money, he says he is going to build the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad.

Letters from Liverpool and London mention the extreme scarcity of shipping of a class at home suitable for the voyage to Victoria. Freights have appreciated to an astonishing extent. To North America 24s per ton is paid, whereas 12s per ton was considered remunerative not long ago. To South America 50s per ton is asked and paid.

The British Colonist expresses its astonishment at the political movement in the United States in the following language: "Horace Greeley, Father of Abolition, the bugaboo with whose name Southern mothers used to terrify their naughty children—the hated, despised and contemned foe of the South—has been unanimously nominated for the Presidency by a Democratic Convention. Well! Well! Wonders will never cease."

It has been officially ordered that horses and pack mules, or other pack animals, bringing provisions or other merchandise from United States territory, across the southern boundary of British Columbia, shall be admitted without payment of duty on bonds being given to double the duty on the animals brought in, provided they shall be exported again in three months, or if retained in the country, a payment of the regular duties shall be made before the expiration of that delay.

POLITICAL NOTES

Of the 107 Republican members of the late Illinois House of Representatives, only two are for Greeley.

Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun and Horace Greeley have not spoken for three years. They know each other.

The New York Times thinks the Democratic papers "have great confidence in the shortness of the popular memory."

No papers and no men are quite so hot for Greeley as those which were the hottest for secession twelve years ago.

The Sage has been a candidate for office nineteen times, and was only elected to fill out an unexpired Congressional term.

The wicked Danbury, Conn., News fellow says: "The majority of women care but little about suffrage. If the backs to car seats could only be hollowed out to admit of their bustles lapping over, the ballot might go to thunder for all they care."

General Cox is losing his "faith in human nature." As he sadly shook the dust off his feet at the little Free Trade conference and departed once again, he wearily remarked: "I have signed calls now for five different Conventions and conferences, and I won't sign any more."

Somebody says that Charles Sumner is to "astonish the country" with a new onslaught on General Grant. He might do that by treating the President with candor and truth, but he cannot by virulent attack. His ammunition is gone—he has shot his wad.

The Worcester (Mass.) Spy says that if Mr. Greeley had honestly changed his views and gone over to the Democratic party in a frank, manly way, it might respect his conduct, if it could not approve it; but he has, in reality, undergone no change, whatever, save that produced by the lunacy of his ambition.

What a galaxy of recruits is that now rallying around the Greeley banner. Here they are as enumerated by the Albany, N. Y., Evening Journal: "Andy Johnson, the political traitor; Jeff Davis, the national traitor; Admiral Semmes, the pirate; General Beauregard, the inventor of the cry of 'booty and beauty;' Oakey Hall, the ring plunderer; Winans, the corruptionist; Andrews, the rioter; Cochrane, the dead beat; Wood, the gambler; Morrissey, the sporting man, et id omne genus—all 'that crowd.'"

The Boston Traveller gives this as the song of the Democracy:

I want to get an office
And in the office stand
With brass upon my forehead,
With greenbacks in my hand.
And oh, to get that office
I'll vote for Horace G.
Unless, meantime, Ulysses
Should promise it to me.

The Cundurango newspapers have made the startling discovery that Mr. Wilson was once a Know Nothing. They have not discovered, however, that in his advocacy of that cause he never went as far in the denunciation of men because of their nativity or their religion as Mr. Greeley went a few years ago in his Tribune articles, respecting the Irish, and especially the Irish Catholics. It was customary with him to charge every violation of law and order upon the Catholics and their priests, and it is very well known that he had so bitterly incensed this class of people that he more than once feared their vengeance.

Cured of Sentimental Non-ense

A contemporary gives the history of Miss Amanda Barber (mentioned a few days ago in our telegraphic dispatches), as follows:

Miss Amanda Barber was a clerk in one of the Departments in Washington in 1867, devoting daily six hours to her official duties and the balance to novel reading. She was particularly interested in Cooper's works, and determined to become, at the first favorable opportunity, a second Minnehaha. The visit of an Indian delegation to the "Great Father" at the White House gave Miss Amanda that longed-for chance. Squatting Bear, one of the delegates, looked for all the world to Amanda as the original of Longfellow's Hiawatha, and forthwith she insisted upon marrying him, indifferent to the fact that he already had two wives. She went West, where she was assigned to a rude tent already occupied by Mrs. Squatting Bears Nos. 1 and 2. Here she attempted to Christianize the noble red men, but her success was not brilliant, owing to the fact that she understood English only, and the Sioux were entirely ignorant of it. According to her own story her pupils would gamble, would cheat, would lie, would steal, would drink, and would not keep Sunday. She toiled on and on, but without result. Moreover, whenever her husband went off on a scout, his two other wives imposed the most menial duties upon her. In vain she tried to read the Bible to them; they preferred to have her scrape buffalo robes, and gather wood and cook food, and they made her do it. Her life was varied by a grand spectacular entertainment in the shape of the roasting alive of a white soldier. Soon after Squatting Bear, in a fit of passion, killed his eldest wife and beat a hurried retreat. Miss Barber fell sick, and was left at a temporary camp, from which she fled and tried to walk sixty miles to Fort Fetterman. She was speedily caught. When Hiawatha beat her over the head she turned to him the other cheek also, but failed to soothe his savage spirit by this act of Christianity. He knocked her down and stamped upon her, and performed an extempore war-dance on her, and finally, after she had crawled away, sold her for three ponies to a Cheyenne chief, Bacon Sides. This was in 1870. For the next two years her life was one of infinite degradation. She was treated as a mere animal, doomed to toil without ceasing, and made to yield implicit obedience to the whims of her owners, under penalty of brutal punishment. While with the Cheyennes she was compelled to witness the torture of two teamsters from Fort McPherson, who were burned alive by their captors. Three weeks ago she appeared at Fort Benton, and was taken care of by the officers' wives there. Her wretched attire was exchanged for decent clothing and she was sent down the Missouri on her way to her old home at Milford, Mass., where she probably is by this time.

The entire Republican ticket [illegible] as Mayor was elected in Kansas City on the [illegible] inst. The [illegible] first time the [illegible] has been [illegible] in the history of the city.

The United States now stands [illegible] producing [illegible] in the world. In 1871 [illegible] wool [illegible] pounds [illegible] next was that of [illegible] pounds [illegible] Australia, [illegible] and La Plata, [illegible],070,000 pounds.

A Democratic correspondent of the Detroit Free Press gives the following eight reasons why he shall not vote for Greeley:

1. Upon the occasion of a slight difference of opinion between my party and H. G. he said I was a damned liar.
2. He said I was a horse thief.
3. He said I was a rascal and perjured villain.
4. He said I was a [illegible].
5. He said I was a poisonous reptile.
6. He said I was a traitor.
7. He said my [illegible] were all [illegible].
8. He said it would be the ruin of the country if my party ever [illegible] power.

The Monterey, Cal., [illegible] says: "The sycamore trees in this vicinity were blighted in the bud and now look as if dead. We note that the same fact is reported from all points of the State, and generally with an expression of wonder as to the cause. The most plausible theory is that the frost did the mischief, but now comes William Motley, whom the Los Angeles News styles the well known naturalist, and says that in February last there fell upon the earth countless millions of animalcules, having their origin in a volcanic eruption, and which, by some unexplored process, converted the sycamore buds and leaflets into fossilized marble. Bad for the sycamores thus to be changed into coral [illegible], but why did not the animalcules go after other trees?"

The year's production of sugar in Cuba is likely to exceed the small crop of 1871 by about [illegible] tons, but the British West India crops are expected to show a deficiency of 73,000 tons.

Remarkable Cure of Mr. Abram Tully.

San Jose, August 2, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—Some two years ago I was taken down with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was for some time treated by two physicians, but got no better. I tried nearly every remedy I heard of, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until about two weeks ago I was advised by Judge [illegible] to try your ONE WEEK REMEDY. I procured one bottle and was entirely cured. For six weeks before taking the ONE WEEK I was compelled to go upon crutches. I consider your remedy a great blessing to suffering humanity, and shall deem it my duty to tell all Rheumatics of its great virtues.

Yours, etc.,
ABRAM TULLY

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 17 1872

CITY.

FROM [illegible] —The bark [illegible] Capt A Noyes [illegible] had [illegible] port yesterday about [illegible] o'clock A [illegible] of the steam tug [illegible] day. The [illegible] for Hongkong on the 13th of [illegible] May [illegible] the time of [illegible] the bar was [illegible] head winds were encountered throughout the voyage. The passage was made in sixty [illegible] from Hongkong to the mouth of the river [illegible] brings 7 Chinese passengers. During the [illegible] good [illegible] sickness occurred on [illegible] and the passengers arrived in good order. We have not often seen a more healthy or robust [illegible] Chinese than the [illegible] baldi brought. All are well proportioned, handsome looking fellows and seem to hardly belong to the same race. We learn they were brought from the [illegible] adjacent to the great Chinese emporium and not immediately from the city as has been the [illegible] with a majority of former cargoes. The Garibaldi after reaching Astoria, was towed up to Oak Point by the tug [illegible]. Here she was left. She continued to beat her way slowly up the river until the Be [illegible] went down and took her in hand at Rainier. The tug started from that point on Monday evening about 9 o'clock and reached here yesterday morning in good time. Immense [illegible] of Chinese congregated on the wharf at the foot of Main street to await the arrival of the vessel and welcome their countrymen to "ye land of Webfoot." No sooner had the vessel touched the wharf and was made fast than the several Custom House officers boarded her and commenced to examine the luggage and persons of the passengers with all [illegible] dispatch possible. After closely scrutinizing every article of baggage—probing into whatever looked suspicious—and [illegible] clothing, shoes, pockets, etc. of each man he was allowed to step on shore. Several hours were required to dispose of in this manner the [illegible] portion of the cargo. The unsophisticated Johns, just from the Flowery Land and completely ignorant of the manners, customs and laws of the Americans did not much [illegible] the "going through" process and quite a number considered it an outrage which they thought proper to resent. However the officers disposed with the palaver on short order and inspected their private effects just the same as if [illegible] of the [illegible] and Mongolian contour were perfectly docile. The Garibaldi is now lying at Moffett & Stephens wharf, where the cargo will soon be discharged.

NOT LIGHTED.—We are not aware of the exact conditions of the contract which exists between the Portland Gas Company and the city in relation to lighting up the streets, but there seems to exist either a defect in the contract or a want of compliance with its conditions. All admit there is not a sufficient number of lamps along the streets to afford light enough during dark nights, but it is a question of policy whether the number ought to be increased in view of the already heavy taxation. This objection to an increase of the number of lamps seems to be well taken. "Rome was not built in a day," and Portland cannot be expected with her present limited but we are gratified to state rapidly augmenting population to prosecute the various street improvements, erect public buildings, etc., besides maintaining her municipal administration involving the outlay of a considerable amount of money, and at the same time provide for every public requirement or convenience to be met with in older, much larger and far more wealthy cities. The time will come when this city can afford without imposing an excessive burden on the tax payers to have a lamp at every corner of the streets, but that time has not yet arrived and will not for some years to come. In the meantime the public will be compelled to dispense with the required quantity of light. But much depends upon the manner in which the present number is managed, since fifty lamps lighted are of more value than five hundred not lighted. During the last week the street lamps have not been lighted for some reason. There has been no moon, and the stars have contributed but little toward dispelling the darkness. After 11 o'clock pedestrians require all the light afforded by the street lamps to enable them to make their way along with ease or safety. It is clearly a public necessity that the lamps be kept burning from 9 o'clock in the evening until the return of daylight, excepting nights when the moon can dispense with all "lesser lights." At best the city is but indifferently supplied with lamps, and what have been provided should be kept burning. The city pays the Gas Company for illuminating the streets and they are entitled to all the benefits of the light.

ROUGH ON OUR POET.—Oregon has generally felt a sort of maternal pride in claiming Joaquin Miller, "ye poet of the Sierras," but the following rough pen sketch from an exchange is well calculated to dispel the golden halo which is so wont to gather around the devoted head of the celebrated rhymist. The writer had taken a squint at the great bard of the Pacific on his recent overland trip East in company with Grace Greenwood and Mrs H B Stowe. He must be an uncultured barbarian for he says: "A glimpse at Joaquin accoutred in tangled unkempt hair and habiliment of feudal cut, to say nothing of his general get up, upsets many of the romantic notions which we have enjoyed concerning him and his disjointed glory. How such mortal ugliness could be found to flux with the sweetness of poetry puzzles the wits and makes us wish that we had escaped the excruciating agony of looking upon the self [illegible] rhymester. That one spectacle knocked the wind out of all our exaggerated opinions of the form, shape and feature of Mr Miller, and, just as when we first visited a menagerie to find the elephant smaller than sixteen other [illegible] piled up in a heap, so it was to-day that a thousand dreamy hallucinations were scattered to the four winds of heaven by a single peep at the bard of [illegible]. We hope never to look upon himself or his like again. Good bye, Joaquin. Go East and ride your Pegasus through the corn fields." From and after this date we'll write our own poetry.

DROWNED.—Alfred Glasco a little colored boy aged twelve years, was drowned at the upper end of Couch's Lake yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. In company with several small boys he was playing in the water—taking the first lesson in swimming. He was walking out on a fence which extends down into the water and when about fifteen paces from the edge the rail on which he was standing suddenly turned. He was precipitated head first into the water where it was ten or twelve feet deep. Had any grown person been present the boy could easily have been saved, but his little companions were so alarmed that they could render the boy no assistance until it was useless. The body was recovered about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The remains will be buried to-day. Funeral will take place at [illegible] o'clock from the residence of the parents, corner Thirteenth and [illegible] streets.

INJURED.—Yesterday afternoon while Mr [illegible] S Stimpson was engaged at work at the [illegible] sawmill he met with a painful accident. As he was handling a piece of timber near a small circular saw which was in motion his right hand came in contact with it. The forefinger was severely lacerated and also the thumb was badly mangled. He was removed to the drug store of Leeson & Higley and the wound dressed by Dr Parker. The wound is painful but [illegible] but unless an [illegible] and good [illegible] served may result in the loss of the [illegible] finger.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF WELCOME.—By the L Stephens now due there will arrive Col. Jo Hooker. We learn that proper and befitting demonstrations of welcome will be made by the city. Immediately on the arrival of the steamer a salute of thirteen guns will be fired by the Portland Light Battery by order of General Bell. Elsewhere will be found a call for a meeting of the Mexican Veterans to give the distinguished officer a proper reception. In this the above organization will probably be joined by the Grand Army of the Republic.

ROBINSON TROUPE.—The Robinson Troupe consisting of Robinson Mr and Mrs Fulford Cleaves and Miss Minnie Pixley started yesterday afternoon for Victoria. The Company will proceed to [illegible] and from thence travel overland through [illegible] to Victoria [illegible]. The great Vivian accompanied the troupe.

A VERY HARROWING CASE.—Last Sunday morning as the sun was rising in the Orient and tipping the real estate in the vicinity of the car shop with its golden [illegible] two peaceable citizens of the hamlet with their dogs in leashes and their guns and game bags on their shoulders were wending their way to the groves [illegible] first Temple [illegible] Bryant has [illegible] but for [illegible] however but to see if the deer and grouse were in [illegible] too numerous for the safety of the potato crop [illegible] the way [illegible] and groaning as if [illegible] our two friends found a poor fell[illegible] [illegible] evidently from [illegible] Samar [illegible] the ground and [illegible] assured by him that he had [illegible] by robbers [illegible]. At any rate he said he was terribly bruised and [illegible] scarcely able to walk. Arrived at a farm [illegible] the good man of the house [illegible] came out and [illegible] nature of the [illegible] very benevolently [illegible] every [illegible] power in rendering [illegible] The three then [illegible] investing [illegible] the ghastly wounds and the bruises which he said were all over him. He demurred [illegible] taking [illegible] and when our farmer helped him off with his coat he screamed with pain. Further examination [illegible] and [illegible] revealed that he had not a scar or bruise about his person but was [illegible] what protracted attack of the disease known to classical writers as [illegible]. Our two good Samaritans and kind hearted left him in huge disgust and the stranger was left to lie down in the fence corner and sleep off the wounds made by the robbers [illegible].

STOLEN GOODS.—A second hand clothier who transacts business up on Front street was arrested yesterday evening on the charge of purchasing and also secreting goods which had been stolen. He sold a pair of pants [illegible] yesterday to a man which had been stolen but a short time before. Soon after the real owner of the [illegible] happened to meet the late purchaser and recognized his property at once. He accused the man of having the pants on. The accused told him where the goods had been sold. The two went to the second hand man who gave back the money and restored the article to the proper owner and so the matter was amicably settled. In the afternoon the same man was arrested on the charge of a woman who alleged that she had lost a shawl and silk dress and believed the second hand man had purchased them. He was taken before Judge Denny and closely questioned concerning the matter but denied all knowledge of the articles. A search warrant was issued and his premises searched. A small roll of something in an old dirty ragged sack attracted the attention of Capt Brannan and aroused his suspicions. On unrolling the package lo! the missing articles were in sight. The matter will come up before Judge Denny this morning for a hearing.

BOLD ROBBERY.—We have just received intelligence of a bold robbery which occurred near Lafayette on last Friday afternoon. It is made to appear that two men who reside adjacent to the town got on a spree. A man whose name we could not ascertain was engaged in building a bridge over the Yamhill river. He was a good carpenter and withal a sober, industrious man generally. But he had been enticed to drink a little too freely. On Friday afternoon his two companions induced him to leave his work and walk a short distance from the bridge. When not more than seventy five yards away he was knocked down and robbed of $100. This was done in broad daylight within call and almost sight of fourteen men who were employed on the bridge at the time. The parties were apprehended had a preliminary examination and are held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The parties who perpetrated the offense reside near Lafayette, and are well known. It was a most bold and fearless robbery and the parties who committed it could not expect under any circumstances to escape apprehension or evade the consequences of their action.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates tropical, temperate or frigid it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Two Experiments

[illegible] down from Puget Sound [illegible] 1,200 miles [illegible] port all right after a passage [illegible] month. He [illegible] out to obtain the [illegible] not wishing to [illegible] where the chances were [illegible] the side of being lost [illegible] help of wind and [illegible] coast, very much [illegible] might have floated along. No valuable fact was established and no important principle was illustrated by the experiment. The wonder loving people went in crowds to see Sam Patch leap over a noted fall a hundred feet high. But when one day Patch went down and didn't come up again it suddenly occurred to the people that he was a fool that nothing whatever had been gained by such a reckless experiment. If Goodenough had been drowned, the owner of the Puget Sound dog would have congratulated himself that he took no canine within that craft, and people would have said that the adventurer was a fool for thus trifling with his own life.

Dr. Bourne recently walked from Portland, Oregon, to San Francisco, a distance of nearly 800 miles overland, in less than a month, or 300 hours of walking time. Dr. Bourne is a hale old gentleman of 65 years, much devoted to brown bread and cold water externally and internally. He has done on a very thin diet that some other men might have done on a more generous diet. It is not quite clear that any important principle has been illustrated by the experiment, although it is a much more natural one than Goodenough made in his nondescript dory. There are not many men of the age of 65 who would hold out well on a walk of 800 miles. Dr. Bourne believes that his vigor is maintained through his temperate and peculiar manner of living. We should hardly expect an over-fed man, with a tinge of gout in his toes, to make such a journey, nor should we expect the gout ever to afflict a man who never indulged beyond brown bread and a little ripe fruit. But if one's diaphragm were occasionally braced by a cut of roast beef or a tender steak we should not expect him to come in more than a week behind Dr. Bourne. And seeing that the latter has performed by far the most valuable experiment, his books or hat ought to be objects of quite as much interest as Goodenough's plunger. The latter did not illustrate any new principle in navigation. But we do know that brown bread and cold water ablutions will take an elderly man over a course of 800 miles in excellent condition.

The Toledo Blade says: "It is a good thing to take care of one's relations, if it be done in a modest, quiet way. Grant appointed his father postmaster at Covington, Ky., at the insignificant salary of $800. John T. Hoffman (who is to be made United States Senator in place of Conkling, in case the Cincinnati coalition is successful) made his father-in-law, Starkweather, commissioner of the Church street widening at New York, whereby he made $650,000 in four years."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, July 16, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 114¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½c buying; 88½c selling.

The ship Garibaldi reached this port this morning. She is from Hongkong and brings 270 chinese passengers and the following freight: 1,000 mats of Sugar; 3,911 mats rice; 1,225 pkgs mdse; 45 bxs ginger; 50 bags yams; 400 bxs oil; 5 silk dresses; 30 paintings; 5 bamboo chairs, total 300 tons.

The Spanish bark Manila sailed from Hongkong for Portland a few days subsequent to the departure of the Garibaldi. She is due at this port. The Manila brings a cargo of Chinese merchandise and a number of passengers.

The British bark Barracouta, which was here last year, will sail again from Liverpool for this port with a general cargo, within ten days.

The steamship John L. Stephens is due to-night, and will probably arrive at her dock before morning, unless detained by head winds.

A report from San Francisco states that the money market there is in a condition to respond more cheerfully and promptly to any demand that may arise than for some time past. Country requirements seem to have been already met, and city takers are by no means so numerous or urgent.

Notice has already been given in THE OREGONIAN of the new enterprise for erecting an iron furnace and rolling mill at Oswego, with which Messrs Hawley, Dodd & Co are connected. Within two months from this date the smelting works will be erected and in operation. The furnace will have a capacity of 15 tons of iron a day. Complete preparations are made for every part of the business. The cost of Charcoal has heretofore been a heavy item, and in order to make this as light as possible improved facilities for burning coal will be provided, and this part of the business will be under the direction of competent skill. It is thought probable that limestone, which is necessary to produce the flux, may be obtained from a new quarry just opened at Roseburg, at a cheaper rate than from San Juan or Orcas Island. The iron work and fire brick necessary for the erecting of the stack have been ordered in England, and will come out in the ship [illegible], now ready to sail from Liverpool. The rolling mill to be put in will for the present have capacity only for the production of heavy bars. It is a matter for congratulation that this extensive enterprise will so soon be in operation. In San Francisco Scotch Pig is now worth eighty five dollars per ton. Oswego iron is nearly or quite equal to it. That heretofore made at Oswego sold for only about half what the same quality of iron would now bring. It is believed that, after making all due allowance for decline, prices will still be such as to leave a margin of profit on the production of Oregon Iron.

The sale of certain descriptions of Agricultural Machinery continues very large, and our leading houses are very busy filling orders. Threshers are now in most general demand, the number going off exceeding that of any former season.

In other lines of trade [illegible] the demand is steady. The Dry Goods trade is not very active, as just now is the season between the filling of orders for the summer trade and the opening of orders for fall stocks.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—We have no transactions to note [illegible] to offer. Prospects for market for new crop [illegible] are flattering. We see little reason to hope that our farmers will realize over 75c per bushel this year, as an outside figure.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 6, 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time, has suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offenses and has warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It initiated a new policy toward the Indians; the Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion; the public lands have been freely given to actual settlers, immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers. In the form of National currency, it has provided for the National credit, and sustained it [illegible] for the most extraordinary burdens. It has negotiated new bonds at lower rates of interest. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reductions from the rate of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during U. S. Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100,000,000 per year. A great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the Nation kept in a high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4. The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life-tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement by the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt, and except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to laborers, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for the country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, once a subject always a subject, having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Government, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way proposed for reductions in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities add a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom; their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments. It disapproves of asserting constitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by the interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

RAILROAD LANDS.

OFFICE OF LAND DEPARTMENT,
Oregon and California R R Co. and European and Oregon Land Co.,
PORTLAND, OREGON, August 1, 1871.

THE COMPANY IS NOW PREPARED TO EXTEND the pre-emption privilege of purchasing Railroad Lands in advance of the same being placed in market, to all parties desirous of securing them on the following terms.

The applicant filing in this office a claim in the form prescribed below.

Pre-emption, ——— date, No. ——
To the Land Agent of the European and Oregon Land Company:

Sir: You are hereby notified that I have settled upon, and improved [illegible] land in [illegible] county of —— State of Oregon, containing —— acres, and that I claim a pre-emption right to purchase said land at the Company's valuation in accordance with the following resolution of the Directors of said Company, adopted on the twenty sixth day of May, A. D. 1871, to the terms of which I hereby fully assent:

"Resolved, That the parties settling upon and improving any of the lands of the European and Oregon Land Company, before the same are opened for market, shall be entitled to the pre-emption privilege of purchase on the same terms as the Company will sell the land for without improvements, and subject to all the same conditions of payment, as all other lands belonging to the Company, when brought into market, provided, such settlers shall file in the Land Office of said Company, written application, giving notice of such settlement, and shall accept the privilege upon the condition that when the price of the land shall be fixed, notice thereof shall be sent by the Company's Land Agent, through the Postoffice, or otherwise as may be convenient, to the residence of the party claiming the pre-emption privilege, and if the land is not purchased by the said party within sixty days from the date of such notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person."

(Name of applicant.)

(Postoffice address.)

When the application is received, a certificate, signed by the Agent, obligating the Company to the terms, will be sent to the claimant in the following form:

PRE-EMPTION CERTIFICATE, No. ——

This is to certify that ——— of ——— county, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office a pre-emption claim to (description of premises), and is hereby entitled to the first privilege of purchasing said land at the Company's valuation (which is to be made without reference to improvements) when the same shall be placed in market, in accordance with a resolution of the Board of Directors of said Company, adopted May 26, A. D. 1871.

When the price of the above described land is fixed, notice thereof will be sent to the party to whom this Certificate is issued, and if the land is not purchased by the said party as the holder hereof within sixty days from the date of said notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person.

(Signed) ——— Land Agent of the E & O Land Co.

The lands will be appraised by a competent, disinterested party, under oath, at their actual present value—no fancy or prospective price on the basis of similar lands in the vicinity, and when appraised it is intended they will be sold in quantity not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres to one person, payable in five equal annual installments, with interest from date of contract, at ten per cent per annum principal and interest payable in United States Legal Tender Notes. Warranty deeds given after United States Patents issued, upon payment in full.

Blank forms of application furnished upon request.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy6d4pt
